

LOUIS BERGER SAS

ENGINEERS

Louis Berger SAS belongs to the Louis Berger Group who are the world's foremost international consultancy in the fields of engineering, development, management and economics.

We are currently engaged in projects in over 70 countries worldwide, with funding from the European Commission, national governments, World Bank and other major international funding agencies.

The Louis Berger Group is responsible for the design, supervision and construction of major new projects in Central and Eastern Europe and NIS/CIS countries. The projects are in transport infrastructure (highways, railways, ports, navigable waterways, airports and related structures) and the environmental (water supply, waste water, solid and hazardous waste) sectors. Other fields also include regional and rural development, institutional strengthening, training, capacity building, architecture, buildings, agriculture and irrigation.

We seek experts for short-term and long-term position to undertake business development and technical work on projects in Poland but also in other member states. Experience in European Union funded projects and good English is an advantage but not essential. Salaries are on average considered attractive.

The Louis Berger Group maintains a policy of nurturing individual skills and experience, encouraging and assisting employees to make a measurable contribution to and a significant impact upon the continued growth and success of the organization.
